WHITE PINE

FIRE & ICE SHOW

JANUARY 14 & 15, 2006

HOW TO BUILD A SNOW SCULPTURE

- Bundle as much snow as you think you will need in a large pile.
- It may be easier to build forms out of plywood to hold the snow together.
- Once you have your pile, add water to the snow until you get the desired consistency (that you think will be the easiest for you to sculpt.)
- To add detail, use a bucket of snow and add water to make a slurry. Using your hands, apply the slurry to the object and compact lightly.
- This is not hard to do, so don't get discouraged
- The best way to ensure that your sculptures maintain the detail, try and finish up as close to sunset as you can. This will ensure that your sculpture freezes as hard as ICE.
- Good luck to everyone and may your sculptures be enjoyed by everyone.