

2007 Nevada Day Parade In Ely, Nevada

On the same day, in the Elko's Nevada Day Parade, Nevada Division of State Parks also had an entry float in their parade. The float won first place in the "Commercial" Division. Andrew Bass, park supervisor of Wild Horse State Recreation Area is riding on this float. The parade theme was legendary history.

The float display modern recreation on the truck. The trailer had modern campers on the front cooking marshmallows and historic campers (cowboy, prospector, and early native) on the back cooking fish. The fires had moving simulated flame. This was a great chance to help boost interest in our state parks as many of the parade spectators gave us a big thumb up. Congratulations to Andrew Bass and his volunteers!
